ABOUT ME: I'm Jenny Scuccimarri, an actor working in film, television, and theater. I'm also a co-founder of SkyRat Productions, an independent film studio specializing in live-action-and-animation hybrid storytelling focused on authentic human stories. Before I started acting, I built a successful career in marketing and brand management, which informs my strong work ethic and deep understanding of storytelling.

I'm an actor whose essence carries a natural authority but is grounded, warm, bold, and vulnerable. I love the challenge and privilege of playing complex characters who reflect the messy and beautiful aspects of being human. My love of stories started when I was a kid, being raised in a home where Star Wars was a religion and The Beatles were the soundtrack of everyday life.
